

A Question of Energy & Influence

by Chris Thomas
© Chris Thomas 2012

A question has arisen from, to me, an unknown source through a discussion forum.

The question is about the difference between the energies of the 14th Faction, this Universe and the Velon.

It is a fundamental question which I am surprised has not been asked before. Really, I could write a new book to answer this question but there is not enough time available for that to happen so it is a matter of answering the question in an essay format.

The question was this:

Q I'm trying to clarify an understanding I have of "energies" of the universe. I understand from CT's books that our universe was created with the idea of what would happen if everyone had free will with the rule of not being able to take away free will from others. If everything is energy, then our universe, along with everything in it would be created within the energy of free will. The action of acting against free will would not be possible because it's not part of the "energy". The 14th Faction arrived ultimately "infecting" our universe with the ability to take away free will.

Now, CT states that the portal the 14th created is now closed as of 2002, so no one can draw on these energies any longer. However, I assume that those energies still exist. In the books that I have read, CT does not state these energies infecting the Velon. I tend to think they have, since they are effectively taking away our free will.

If we generate enough of the free will energies as a mass consciousness, then, will it be possible to reduce those with the "infected" energies? Is this what those mass meditations are aiming at? Is keeping humanity in conflict the "food" for these negative energies, which is what is keeping this cycle going?

Basically, I'm trying to make a correlation with the energies of the 14th Faction brought in and to comments from folks like Icke who state that the entities controlling the Illuminati promote conflict, so they can "feed" off the negative energies humans give off.

If the portal is gone, then we become the main source of food for those remaining with the "infected" 14th Faction energies. I believe it is unknown if all 14th Faction entities were removed.

A This is a complex question which gets to the heart of the purpose and function of our Universe and our current state of development as individual souls. The answer also involves the complexities of time, and how it is measured in different parts of our Universe, and how time relates to the Earth.

Our Universe was Created 14,376,279,393 years ago (as of 2012). That is, the number of "human" years ago. In different regions of the Universe, time is measured in different ways and this will become relevant later.

Ours is the first Universe ever Created and was constructed around the energy patterns of freedom of choice. In other words, every soul that has been Created to exist within this Universe has absolute freedom of choice over their actions. The only "limiting factor" is that no soul can act in such a way as to remove the freedom of choice of another.

That "Universal Law" is absolute and inviolate.

However, other universes have been Created since ours.

In all, twelve universes exist at the present time with the apparent intention of there being thirteen in total.

I am not trying to speak on behalf of the Creator, just extrapolating information from the Akashic.

In overall terms, these other universes have no relationship with ours; they are not "multiverses" in a quantum physics sense but totally independent energy "envelopes" that are imbued with energy patterns and characteristics that the Creator wishes to explore.

The second universe to be Created explores the exact opposite of ours. In other words: what if every soul within that universe had the ability to remove freedom of choice?

This second universe was not very successful. The energy patterns from which it was constructed generated chaos; so much so that it only lasted about 15 million (human) years before it began a process of decline and collapse.

This second universe does still exist but is very close to annihilation and most of its inhabitants have returned to source (the Creator).

All of the souls that were Created for this second universe were of a “semi-physical” nature. This means that they had a physical form and physical density and their souls were integral to their bodies. In other words, their souls did not detach from their bodies but were effectively immortal in their embodied form. Their length of life expectancy was, effectively, as long as the life of their universe.

Given the chaotic state of their universe, the inhabitants tended to form alliances and collect together in groups with a common cause (Factions). Usually this cause was the storage of energy to which they had many uses but, primarily, the reason seems to be purely depriving other Factions the use of that energy. Given the underlying energies of this second universe, the removal of freedom of choice, the Factions tended to become controlled by one individual; someone who was more aggressive than others. This aggressive individual would then force the other members of the Faction into becoming “drones” - a situation not unlike the “Borg” of the Star Trek television series. Each separate Faction was made up of one leader who turned all of the other members of the Faction into drones - there was no hierarchy, just a dictatorship of one.

The effect of this energy gathering was to create a universe made up of energy clusters with massive voids in between.

This is unlike our Universe where energy is freely available wherever you travel whether that is within galaxies or within inter-galactic space.

With a universe so severely divided, it was impossible for it to continue in existence and so it began a process of decline.

Those who lived within this second universe realised that the decline and collapse had begun and they attempted to gather together any and all energies to try to maintain their position within their universe. Even with the pressures and urgency of their universal collapse, they did not fight wars; there was no history of violence between the various Factions.

However, one of the Factions realised that another universe existed and in an attempt to gather as much energy as possible, they constructed what our scientists would call a “worm hole”.

The scientific definition of a worm hole is an energy “tube” that is constructed from two black holes positioned back to back.

This worm hole connected the second universe to ours with this connection taking place approximately 3.6 million (human) years ago.

The beings that entered our Universe, the Akashic calls the “14th Faction”. There appear to be two reasons for this name: firstly, that was the name they gave to themselves within their own universe and secondly, our Universe contains thirteen races so to mark their difference, our Universe also numbered them “14”.

The 14th Faction were a semi-physical race. This means that they would be invisible to normal human senses. The semi-physical races are constructed from energy patterns that humans can only perceive on a psychic level.

In appearance they were about 5m or 15 foot tall and humanoid in form. Their skin was reddish green in colour and very smooth and they were androgynous. The only “markings” they had were a pronounced bony ridge that extended from the top of their nose and across the top of the skull. Their eyes were yellow with vertical irises. Overall, a very reptilian-like appearance.

Their purpose in braking into our Universe was to collect energy and transport it back to their own universe to maintain their position within a universe that was in the early stages of collapse.

Given their history of energy gathering and stock-piling in their own universe, they had developed technology to achieve these aims and this technology they brought with them into our Universe.

What is meant by “energy” is a little difficult to describe given scientific lack of understanding. Energy underlies, and is the basic building block, of everything that exists. This is well described by Einstein’s Theory of Relativity:

$$E = m c^2$$

What this equation means is that:

E stands for energy

m stands for matter

c stands for the speed of light or

The amount of energy that is contained within solid matter is calculated by multiplying the mass of a substance by the speed of light squared.

To give an example:

Water contains two atoms of hydrogen combined with one atom of oxygen. To calculate how much energy would be released from the hydrogen contained within one litre of pure water (hydrogen bomb), the calculation would be:

$$E=mc^2$$

$$E= 0.111 \times 300,000,000 \times 300,000,000$$

$$E= 10,000,000,000,000,000 \text{ joules}$$

Water contains 111 grams of hydrogen or 0.111 kilograms and the speed of light has been measured at 300 million metres per second within our solar system.

Another way of looking at energy and matter is that the speed at which light travels determines the density of solid matter.

As the alchemist John Dee put it in the 16th Century:

“Any substance can be created by reflecting light at the correct angle”.

All of this comes down to the fact that everything that exists is constructed of energy which means that the 14th Faction found a whole universe full when they broke into our Universe.

The way in which they went about gathering this energy and transporting it back to their universe is not something I can describe as we do not have the vocabulary to describe the kind of technology they used. However, there is one device they used which has become well known and that is a “black hole”.

Before the arrival of the 14th Faction, black holes did not exist in this Universe.

A black hole is a region of extremely dense energies that bend space and time so much that it draws energy into itself. The black hole connects one region of space to another, but in one direction only.

Black holes can be likened to a drinking straw. If you put a straw into a liquid and then draw the air out of the straw, the liquid rises up the straw and, usually, into your mouth. Black holes work in very similar ways except they were specifically designed to draw energy from the region of space around its entrance and deliver that energy to a specific region where the 14th Faction could “harvest” it. The energy could travel in only one direction, it could not return down the black hole “straw” to where it was collected.

Black holes were only formed by devices constructed by the 14th Faction – they did not exist in this Universe before the 14th Faction arrived.

A good indicator that the 14th Faction has been removed from our Universe is the fact that many black holes have now been observed to eject the energy they collected back out through the collection end. Many black holes have also been observed to collapse.

The 14th Faction did not operate their energy “stripping” devices anywhere near to Earth but did considerable damage to other areas of our Universe. So much damage was caused that it was a closely argued decision between allowing our Universe to continue in existence or to collapse it.

Dealing with the 14th Faction was immensely difficult. We live in a Universe where the removal of freedom of choice is not allowed and so dealing with beings who brought with them energy patterns that were designed to remove freedom of choice proved almost impossible.

The Thirteen beings who maintain the balance of energies within this Universe took a great deal of time to find a means of overcoming the 14’s energy patterns – effectively, they had to create fundamentally new energy patterns from frequencies that did not exist originally in this Universe.

In the end, the Earth played a crucial role in overcoming the 14th Faction with their eviction from this Universe finally happening in 2002 (human time).

This is where time becomes very confusing. The destruction of the 14 energies took place in 2002 on Earth but 2.5 million years ago in the region of the Universe most affected by the 14.

For a more detailed explanation of how time varies in different parts of the Universe, see my previous essay entitled "Time-Lines".

Needless to say, time is also an energy and the range of frequencies of energy that exist within the Universe vary considerably certainly to a far greater extent than we, humans, can currently comprehend. This is not a failing on our part; we just need the rest of the soul in the body to be able to grasp the full range of knowledge that is currently not available to us.

The most important aspect of the 14th Faction is that a way was found to destroy the energy patterns they brought with them and the reptilian beings that entered our Universe were all evicted.

For more details of the 14th Faction see Planet Earth - The Universe's Experiment and The Universal Soul.

However, the 14th Faction did have an impact on life on Earth.

When the 14's worm hole burst into our Universe, 33,000 souls from the six non-physical races were caught in the blast. This means that they became contaminated with energy patterns from the 14's universe - the ability to remove freedom of choice.

The Akashic does not record exactly what happened to these 33,000. The personal experience of each individual soul is recorded within their DNA and these experiences are not fully downloaded into the Akashic until those individuals decide to return to the Creator and leave this Universe. The activities of some people can be tracked through the Akashic but only because of the events those individuals cause to happen.

However, the 14 energy patterns can be tracked, to a certain extent, and so there is some information available about the movements and activities of these 33,000.

Again, the strangeness of time plays a part in their story.

The first thing to remember is that although these 33,000 were contaminated with 14 energies, the choice of whether they made use of those energies was entirely that of the individual. In all, something like 25,000 of these souls rejected the 14 energies and returned themselves back to the normal energy patterns of this Universe.

This meant that about 8,000 souls made a choice to make use of these energies that allowed them to remove freedom of choice.

Initially, these 8,000 attempted to use the 14 frequencies to fight against the activities of the 14th Faction but, after a while, they were defeated and forced to work for the 14.

At varying times, each one of these 8,000 continued on their journey and came to Earth taking on human form.

It must be remembered though that they were not reptilian in form. They were not reptiles hiding under a human skin.

What did mark them out as different were the changed energy patterns they brought with them and it was these energy patterns that, from a psychic point of view, gave them a "feeling", and perhaps a "shadow", of being reptilian.

The first of these contaminated souls to arrive on Earth did so around 330 BC and is better known as Alexander the Great.

Since then, all of these 8,000 souls have lived various human lifetimes and in each lifetime they have made use of their ability to remove freedom of choice.

In each life time, these individuals acted alone, building for themselves empires that existed during their lifetimes with the empire collapsing on their deaths. When they were born again into a new body, they began their empire building anew. The only exception to this was the establishment of the Vatican - various Popes have made use of 14 energies they were contaminated with to first build and then maintain an organisation that wielded considerable power over others over a period of almost 2,000 years.

It is important to remember this fact: each of those who were contaminated with 14th Faction energies usually acted as individuals. They did not create organisations, such as the Illuminati, as they did not want to share their power with others.

They all worked by themselves and used their ability to remove freedom of choice to bring power and wealth to themselves; the idea of sharing that power did not fit in with the 14th Faction's energies.

Remember, the inhabitants of the 14's universe formed themselves into Factions with one very dominant leader in order to gather to their faction as much energy as possible; an inherently selfish viewpoint. When translated into Earth culture, those who were contaminated with 14 energies also acted in very selfish ways. The contaminating energies made it impossible for them to share their power.

The 14th Faction existed within our Universe for just over 1 million years. These are human years. Our solar system is constructed from energy frequencies that are compacted down to the point where they form what we describe as "physical" matter. These energy patterns are so condensed that we perceive time, light and matter in ways that are very different to the other regions of the Universe.

One million years to us will appear to be one year or one second in other regions of the Universe where different combinations of time, light and matter create other realities and other perceptions.

The 14th Faction was removed from this Universe about 2.5 million human years ago and all of their technology was destroyed at the same time. To the semi-physical races, this time period appears to be a matter of weeks whilst to the non-physical races it can appear to be like the blink of an eye.

Time is strange stuff, certainly as far as humans are concerned.

Regardless of the huge range of time-scales involved, the 14th Faction have been removed from the Universe and all of their energy patterns have been removed with them. The last time that the 14th Factions energies were made use of on Earth was in 2002; ten years ago.

Since then, those who were used to wielding power by removing the choice of others have found that they can no longer force people to take actions against their own choice.

The 14th Faction energies no longer exist.

Human life, for the past 7,000 years, has been lived where our ability to choose our actions has always been intact.

Looking back through human history, it might appear as though there have been many occasions where our freedom of choice has been removed but this is not necessarily because of individuals making use of the 14 energies they were contaminated with.

Human lives have been lived whilst exploring the possibilities available under The Human Plan. These lifetimes have been lived under the direction of the higher self and the events that have occurred in each lifetime have been planned by the higher self to gain the maximum experience of living a human lifetime on Earth. Sometimes the plans of the higher self have placed us in situations where a choice has to be made: do we stand up to the bully? Or do we give in to what they tell us to do?

By "bully" I mean the likes of landowners, mine owners, mill owners, dictators etc. If we found our courage, we did not go along with what these bullies told us to do. If we did not find the courage, it appeared as though our free choice was taken away from us.

So although 8,000 of the souls that were contaminated in the blast of the 14's wormhole did make use of the ability to remove freedom of choice, they were not necessarily responsible for many of the inequities that many people experienced during their lifetimes. These inequities came about by people making a choice and, in many instances that choice was to not make a choice but to do what someone else told them to do.

Organisations, like the Illuminati, did not make use of 14 energies - there is nothing within the Akashic to support that view; the Illuminati do not have a 14 energy signature - the Illuminati and the other organisations they control, have been formed by a different energy pattern.

The Velon

Our Universe is peopled by many, many trillions of souls. These are the free-acting and free-moving souls and not the souls who make up galaxies, solar systems or planets.

These free-moving souls divide into two groups:

There are six “non-physical” races. These are souls that exist as pure soul energy; in form they are humanoid but they have no physical density. These six races exist everywhere throughout this Universe and it is souls from these six non-physical races who make up 99.9 per cent of the souls who have taken on human form on Earth. We do not have names for these six races. They are totally invisible to us, even psychically, and their energy patterns are so far above ours that we cannot communicate with them, not even by channelled means. We can only psychically communicate with these souls when they in our solar system as they have reduced and condensed their natural energies in order to become human.

There are also seven “semi-physical” races. These souls exist as physical beings but their bodies are considerably less dense than ours. Their natural state is with the whole of the soul within the body and their bodies exist for the length of time that their soul exists. In other words, they do not “die” in the sense that humans die but can exist for many millions of years in one body.

The seven races are these (they are not named in any particular order):

Crystalline, Greys, Blues, Sirians, NGC 584, Pleiadeans and Velon.

This list might appear to be very short but these are their soul origins. Most of these races have spread out across many galaxies and inhabit many varied planets. Where they decide to colonise a new planet, they will call into being a number of souls from the same origin to join them from a “soul storage” - this requires a very complex explanation which we have no room for here.

Very often when a new planet is colonised, those who have colonised the planet will not use their soul origin name but will take on the name they use for that planet.

For example:

When these beings have had channelled contact with people on Earth, they might have stated that they originate from the planet Zog. This statement will be true, they are Zogliths, but their soul origin could be Sirian and this has led to a great deal of confusion on Earth as to who is who and where do they originate. This is why I have always tried to stay with soul origins when describing these races and their activities - to avoid confusion.

All of these 13 races have had contact and interaction with the Earth in one form or another over the history of the Earth.

The Sirians, Pleiadeans, NGC 584, Greys and Blues have been visiting Earth, using ships, for up to millions of years and their purpose has been overwhelmingly helpful and peaceful. But, one semi-physical race has had other ideas and these are the Velon.

I am not going to give a detailed description and back-story to Velon history as this has been covered by several of my books particularly The Human Soul, Project Human Extinction and The Annunaki Plan? or The Human Plan?

However, since the Velon began to influence activities on Earth, members of several of the semi-physical races have been investigating Velon history and Velon activities to try to get to the bottom of what brought the Velon to Earth and why they have acted in ways which have attempted to remove freedom of choice.

This more comprehensive history is now included within the Akashic.

The Velon solar system exists in a galaxy that is twenty three galaxies distant from ours. It lies in a direction that is behind the constellation of Sagittarius in our night sky.

The solar system is a binary system in that it has two suns - one sun is a “red giant” and the other is a “brown dwarf”. The description of both suns would indicate that they are in the process of decline and decay.

In most solar systems, the sun is the primary consciousness but in the case of the Velon system, the primary consciousness is the main planet which is called Velus. Also unusually is the presence of a second primary consciousness which is the red giant sun.

In other words, there is a dominant consciousness that forms the primary planet and the whole solar system, Velus, and a secondary consciousness that makes up one of the suns - effectively Velus 1 and Velus 2.

The solar system contains eight planets and a number of moons. Three planets orbit the brown dwarf sun and four planets orbit around the red giant sun. The eighth planet orbits both suns. Three of the planets are inhabited; the primary planet Velus, one planet called Tiamat and the planet that orbits both suns called Nibiru. A fourth planet, called Marduk, was also inhabited until one of Nibiru's moons collided with the planet causing the planet to become uninhabitable.

The names of these planets will be familiar to anyone who has read the Annunaki story that has been translated by Zecharia Sitchin. However, you need to note that the story of these planets applies to the Velon solar system and not to our solar system - see later.

The Velon peoples have divided themselves into six different "races". This race division seems to be along the equivalent of "religious" lines in much the same way as we on Earth could call ourselves Moslem, Jewish or Buddhist etc, the Velon call themselves: Jjundaa, Oa, Mila, Johnaan, Annunaki and Hathor.

The Annunaki live exclusively on Nibiru whilst the other races live in "colonies" spread out over the surfaces of both Velus and Tiamat.

They are a technological and industrial race but have kept themselves very much to themselves within their home galaxy. They have had very little interaction with the other races of our Universe as they seem to be very insular and uninterested in what occurs outside of their own galaxy. This is why so little was known about them before they decided to make the move to our solar system.

The Velus system was in a state of decline, the Velus consciousness seems to have effectively given up on life and was slowly winding down before returning to source.

However, one Velon ship left the galaxy and encountered an energy flow that was directed from the Universal energies towards Earth.

When the ship returned to Velus and related the story of finding the energy flow, it caused a huge hiatus that led the Velus 1 consciousness to believe that "he" should follow the energy flow as the energy was mistakenly believed to come from "God" and the Velon peoples had obviously been specially chosen by "God" to follow this energy.

Instead of being a solar system consciousness that was in decline, Velus 1 appears to have taken on a religious-like fervour now believing that "he" had been chosen by God and the Velon peoples must be "God's chosen people". Given these new revelations, Velus 1 encouraged a form of religious schism within the six Velon races and all six races began to view themselves as "chosen" and the race who could arrive at the end of the energy flow first would be the chosen of both Velus 1 and God. This schism meant that they set about building bigger and faster ships than any of the other races to arrive at the end of the energy flow first.

If you contrast this with human history, you will see that on Earth we declared war on our religious rivals.

The Velon, however, have no history of using weapons or of armed conflict.

It is important to remember this fact when we go on to explain Velon activities when they arrived at our solar system. In other words, there were no wars or battles fought, no "star wars" or inter-galactic wars, between the Velon and any other of the semi-physical races nor did the Velon "attack" Earth using war-like weapons of any kind.

It also needs to be understood that no race within our Universe has ever developed weapons nor have any wars taken place. It is only humans who have uniquely chosen to kill one another.

The reports back from the semi-physical races investigations into Velon activities also state very clearly that the Velon have had no contact with, nor did they use the energies of, the 14th Faction.

To reiterate: none of the six Velon races use any war-like weapons, they have not fought in any wars and they do not have access to the energies of the 14th Faction.

Velus 1 was the first to arrive at our solar system - "he" had left his own solar system to be cared for by Velus 2 whilst the Velon races developed ships powerful enough to travel to our solar system. He arrived about 1,000 human years ago.

The first action taken by Velus 1 was to attempt to displace the Earth's consciousness. This attempt was repulsed by the Earth's consciousness and by the Earth's guardians.

It appears as though Velus 1 intended to be in charge of the Earth, and the whole solar system, by the time the Velon peoples arrived here.

With Velus 1 rejected by the Earth, "he" leaves the solar system and travels to other regions of the Universe.

The first of the Velon ships to arrive at our solar system did so about 200 human years ago. Although the Velon "armada" was following the energy flow from the Universe, they sent off numerous ships to make contact with the other semi-physical races. In this way, they developed a quite detailed knowledge of the other races and their technologies.

When the Velon ships began to arrive, the Earth and the Earth's guardians would not allow them access to the solar system.

With their access denied, each of the Velon races set about observing life on Earth and each began to form a strategy for overcoming the Earth's guardians and the Earth's objections.

In order to carry out their studies, the Velon began to implant souls on their way to Earth with "spy-ware". These were observing and recording devices which were implanted into souls without their approval and without their knowledge - a major act of removing freedom of choice.

As their knowledge of human life increased, each Velon race developed different strategies and then put those strategies into play at varying times.

For example:

The Annunaki travelled back in time to ancient Sumeria of about 5,000 years ago.

As stated in Sitchin's translations of the Annunaki story, they dictated a story to a Sumerian scribe. This story was actually a combination of the early history of the Hebrew peoples mixed together with the history of the Velon solar system.

Whilst Sitchin has always maintained that the Annunaki fantasy story is the basis of the Old Testament, there are sources of information that have come to light in the last 20 years which can disprove Sitchin's theory.

Also, the Old Testament is a history book based on the experiences of the Hebrew peoples. It was written as a record of their experiences over a long period of time. As a natural part of writing this history, it was added to as each phase was completed. In other words, it was written at a time when the events described had been lived through and, as such, was a record of those events written down by Rabbis - it was not dictated to a scribe.

Sitchin's translations of the Annunaki fantasy states that it was dictated as a complete story and not a story that was written as it evolved in the same way as the Old Testament was.

The whole purpose of dictating this fantasy story was to make humans believe that the Annunaki were our creator gods and that the Annunaki created us to be a race of slaves.

With this story embedded into the human consciousness, when the Annunaki revealed themselves in the present time, they hoped they would be welcomed as our gods and given anything they wanted by humans.

The real basis of the Old Testament is to be found in the archaeological findings at Gobekli Tepe on the borders of Iraq, Turkey and Turkistan - collectively known as "The Cult of Angels".

These findings totally disprove the Annunaki fantasy story.

The Oa and Mila used channelled messages in an attempt to persuade people to allow them access to Earth.

These seem to have been centred mainly on the islands of Hawaii.

The Jjundaa began to adopt various disguises where they masqueraded as members of the other semi-physical races, again through channelled means.

The Johnaan also adopted various disguises mainly as The Galactic Federation, Ashtar Command, The Great White Brotherhood, etc. They also took on individual personas such as Lord Metatron (later changed to Arch Angel Metatron) as well as Lord Sananda (claiming to be the Christ consciousness) and many other individuals, Arch Angels and Angels - the source of their adopted Angel personas being the findings at Gobekli Tepe.

They also made numerous claims to have returned to Earth to free humans from the “prison” we had been incarcerated in following a series of inter-race and inter-galactic wars.

Remember, from above, none of the Universal races have ever developed weapons nor have any wars taken place anywhere away from Earth.

The Hathor also used channelled means to contact people. Their form of channelling was with musical sequences to help people to heal illness.

By building up a following of their healing music, the Hathor persuaded a group of people to sink two copper-lined shafts 100m (333 feet) vertically into the ground. These copper tubes were filled with programmed quartz crystals and were known as celestoriums.

Two celestoriums were built but only one became fully active. The celestoriums were designed for one purpose - to be giant “tuning forks” that resonated at frequencies that were designed to evict the Earth’s consciousness from the planet allowing Velus 1 to take control.

Fortunately, the Earth’s guardians stepped in and destroyed both celestoriums before they could fulfil their designed function.

Velus 1, however, had different ideas.

Given that Velus 1 had been unable to remove the Earth’s consciousness, “he” looked around for different ways to control events on Earth.

Humans have had a tendency to try and control others, usually stemming from greed. This is nothing to do with the energy patterns of the 14th Faction, although I am sure that individuals who used 14 energies provided a role model for others.

With the rise of the power of money, those who controlled banking houses became more and more greedy and develop a want for power. One person who had a need was Mayer Amschel Rothschild who, along with Adam Weishaupt, established the Bavarian Illuminati in 1776.

Weishaupt became a target for Velus 1 and, in a process that could be described as a “walk-in” took control of Weishaupt. In doing so, Velus 1 controlled the Illuminati.

The Bavarian Illuminati worked with many powerful people and set out an agenda for world domination - the total control of all life on the planet.

By engineering events such as the French Revolution, the American Revolution and the Russian Revolution, the Illuminati have effectively controlled all aspects of human life and human thinking.

With the backing of Velus 1 (a solar system-sized consciousness), they have had access to sufficient energy to allow them to achieve most of their goals. The goals they have not yet achieved are very much underway and this is why we have seen such an increase of government and military control in recent years.

However, the race is on - can the Velus controlled Illuminati achieve all of their aims before the end of 2012 when people return to full consciousness?

No.

Universal Reactions

The founding energies of this Universe are those of freedom of choice. All souls that exist within this Universe have absolute freedom of choice to choose their actions; the only thing that cannot be done is to act in such a way that it removes the choice of another to act freely.

The activities of the Velon have clearly broken this law and caused major repercussions throughout the whole of this Universe.

The actions taken by the Velon that have broken this Universal law and energy patterns are these:

1. The implantation of monitoring devices into people without their knowledge or approval.
2. The control of an organisation (the Illuminati) whose intention is to totally control every single aspect of human life by taking away the choices of the individual.

3. By far the greatest act of removing freedom of choice was the attempt by first Velus 1 and then by the Hathor of the removal of the Earth's consciousness against Her choices.

These actions broke Universal Law and disrupted the energy patterns of the whole Universe.

If we on Earth were not so close to completing The Human Plan, the actions of the Velon would have forced this Universe to collapse in on itself and return to source - literally to destroy this Universe.

The Velon have not been contaminated by the energies of the 14th Faction nor have they been forced to take any actions by the 14th Faction.

The Velon acted on their own.

There is no clear answer as to why the Velon acted in the way in which they have. The only conclusions that have been reached is that - to put it into human terms - Velus 1 had some kind of "religious madness" which infected the rest of the Velon races forcing them to see themselves as "God's chosen people" who should travel to live on "God's chosen planet" and this is what brought them to Earth.

Many attempts were made, by the other races as well as the Thirteen, to make the Velon return to their home galaxy and leave the Earth and our solar system alone.

The Velon made many promises which were never fulfilled.

The result was that the majority of the Velon race was evicted from this Universe and now inhabit a new solar system that is free floating in the non-universal void.

Unfortunately somewhere in the region of 3 million Velon managed to avoid eviction. The explanation of how they managed to achieve this is immense and not something that can be explained here.

These 3 million Velon have been consistently misleading and attacking humans through channelled means in the hope that they can disrupt The Human Plan's conclusions and prevent humans from achieving soul re-integration.

These remaining Velon are only capable of remaining around our solar system because of the help that misguided humans are giving to them. These are humans who have been misled by the Velon without their realising and who continue to work with the bogus Velon organisations; like Ashtar Command, Arch Angels and Angels etc, providing the remaining Velon with sufficient energies to maintain their position in this Universe and attack the Earth.

The problem is that these people totally believe that they are working with beings/entities that are doing good and so they choose to continue working with them even though the beings/entities they are working with are Velon - this is an example of free choice in action and further proof of the Velon deliberately removing freedom of choice.

There are thousands of people hoping for, and asking for, some kind of alien intervention and the Velon are presenting themselves as those who fulfil this desire. The Velon are "feeding" off these human energies.

The Velon have been condemned to expulsion from this Universe - all of the Velon. It is only the actions of some humans that are preventing the Universe from returning to full balance.

The biggest problem is that humans accept channelled messages without question. "If it is from a non-human source then it must be something good".

If I said to you that the sky is green, you would demand proof whereas if a channelled source said that the sky is green you would say "really? I always thought it was blue - but if you say it is green then I will alter my perceptions to accommodate what you say".

It is this blind acceptance of these kinds of messages that has allowed the Velon to take hold of many thousands of people on Earth.

Also, as we approach the end of The Human Plan, many people have realised that time is now very short and that there appears to be a great deal of work still to do. These people are hoping that "someone" will come in and take care of all of their problems for them. Again, the Velon have created fictitious beings/entities that make empty promises to take responsibility for human inactions and fears.

Over the years, I have spoken to many different kinds of channellers who claim to be working with one race or another. I have always suggested that they question the source of these channelled messages to find out if the source is who and what they claim to be.

In the few instances where the channeller has challenged their source, they have always found them to be Velon.

I have also spoken to a number of channellers who state that they are “uncomfortable” with the beings and material they channel but have continued because the channelling work makes them “feel special”.

In the years that I have been trying to track down Velon activity, I have read a huge amount of channelled material. To me, virtually all of these channelled sources are obviously Velon and every few months, or years, the messages totally change usually in a way that is totally contradictory to the previous message.

Even the sources change their names. Take for example the being who calls himself Metatron. “He” first began calling himself “Lord Metatron” and described himself as being an “Ascended Sirian” who had returned from the universe to which “he” had ascended to undo the problems caused by an inter-galactic war of many thousands of years ago in our Universe. In recent months, this Metatron now describes himself as “Arch Angel Metatron”. “He” has changed from being an “Ascended Sirian” to being an “Arch Angel” and yet the messages “he” produces are accepted without any kind of challenge - you are either of Sirian origin or you are an “angel”, you cannot be both.

In other words, the sky is green!

In normal life, we question most of what we are told but it seems that when we come to channelled sources, we seem to leave common sense behind and blindly accept what the source tells us no matter how ridiculous or suspicious the messages are.

We really do need to stop doing this.

It is the blind acceptance of the messages from the Velon that is the cause of so many of the current problems on Earth.

By “feeding” the Velon human energies in this way, the Velon are able to maintain their position around our solar system and resist the demands of the Universe that they be evicted.

By “feeding” the Velon in this way, it also allows them to continue to control the Illuminati and the plans of the Illuminati are to depopulate the Earth leaving 300 million people to be their slaves - exactly what the Velon want.

The tragedy is that the vast majority of those who blindly accept channelled messages are those who claim to be the most “spiritual”.

The only way in which these final Velon can be fully evicted from this Universe is by humans rejecting them and their deliberate lies and giving their full support to Mother Earth.

We, humans, are here on Earth to find answers to many questions and we have been inordinately successful in so doing. In the last 7,000 years, we have worked very closely with Mother Earth to find the answers needed to complete The Human Plan.

The Human Plan is a cooperative venture by the Earth and humans working together and the solution to Earth and human problems can only be resolved by the Earth and humans. Nobody from outside can do anything on our behalf; nobody can step in and solve these problems for us or to take on our responsibility to ourselves and the Earth - to do so would break the free choice the Earth and humans made when we began The Human Plan.

We have found the answers we needed to find by humans and the Earth working together, even with this situation of humans choosing to support the Velon, there is nothing to prevent us from completing The Human Plan and achieving soul re-integration.

This will be achieved, despite the problems caused by human gullibility and lack of responsibility, before 21/12/12.
