

The OPPT, The UCC and The HGF
by Chris Thomas © March 2013

In recent weeks, the Internet and some media has been inundated with claims made by an organisation that calls itself The One Peoples Public Trust or OPPT.

The OPPT claim that they have established a Trust bonded to the original American Constitution of 1776. They further bonded every single person on the planet into this trust and claim to act in the interests of every single person on the planet.

The OPPT claim to have filed legal documents with the UCC that make claims: “Understanding that corporations, governments and banks are one and the same, an “Order of Finding and Action” was filed against the “the debtor”, a legal entity created via the UCC process which encompasses all corporate entities. The filings claim that the Debtor “knowingly, willingly and intentionally committed treason” by “owning, operating, aiding and abetting private money systems” and “operating Slavery Systems used against... citizens without their knowing, willing and intentional consent”.

In other words, all of the Earth’s resources are owned by people and not corporations or governments. This is a right given to us because of our connections to the “Creator” and cannot be contested.

The OPPT further claim that as they filed these documents with the UCC under a “non-rebuttal” clause and as the “debtor” has not rebutted these claims, the documents filed by the OPPT now become law.

The OPPT further claim that: “Lawfully, nobody can stand as a superior authority between you and your relationship with the Creator. Having removed the control-mechanisms of economy and government, the One People’s Public Trust leaves individuals in full liability, being personally responsible for themselves and for ensuring the free-will rights of others. There is no longer a structural chain of command. No rules. No corporations to hide behind. You are – as the Creator intended – a Being and a guardian of our planet and its inhabitants.”

Having read these documents and claims, my first question was: The American Constitution was not written in 1776 so what do they mean?

First of all, the only event of note that happened in 1776 was the establishment of the Bavarian Illuminati. Then in July 1782, the Illuminati incorporated the Order of Freemasons at the Congress of Wilhelmsbad. The American Constitution was not written until 1787 and was not ratified until the 21st of June 1788 – note: of the 55 signatories to the American Constitution, 50 were known Freemasons.

So what American Constitution has the OPPT bonded themselves to and, by extension, bonded every single person on the planet? Certainly it is not the American Constitution as everybody knows it as it was not written in 1776. Does this mean that the OPPT have bonded everyone to the Illuminati and the Freemasons?

Given that every school child in America is well schooled in the history of the American Constitution, the OPPT stating that it was signed in 1776 is, obviously, a deliberate mistake. If it isn’t a deliberate mistake, the error would negate their claim to passing a law.

My second question was: Who are the UCC?

The UCC

In several OPPT documents and emails they refer to the UCC as “Universal Commercial Code”. If you Google this name, you receive no hits – the Universal Commercial Code does not exist. But Google does come up with a number of hits for UCC and the organisation that exactly matches the OPPT’s description of the organisation with which their documents are filed is an American organisation whose full name is “Uniform Commercial Code”

To quote from the UCC’s web site:

The Uniform Commercial Code (UCC or the Code), first published in 1952, is one of a number of uniform acts that have been promulgated in conjunction with efforts to harmonize the law of sales and other commercial transactions in all 50 states within the United States of America.

In other words, the UCC is, effectively, an NGO which does not have any legal powers or even the power to police the policy documents it writes. All it can do is to recommend policy to individual State Legislators and it is then up to the particular State to adopt these recommendations or not. If the individual States then decide to adopt the UCC’s recommendations, it passes laws to adopt them. The UCC does not pass laws. The UCC has no legal standing and no legal powers even within the USA let alone anywhere else in the world.

The UCC does have a legal department who check and advise on State law but their web site does not make any reference to the OPPT filings (their web site, when I visited it, was updated on the 28th of February 2013).

Other Problems

The OPPT claim that they filed papers with the UCC under, what the OPPT claim is a system of “rebuttal”. What this means is that if the person or organisation the actions are filed against does not “rebut” the allegations within a certain time frame, the filed actions automatically become law.

There is a process, in some legal situations, whereby if an accusation or claim is made against a defendant and the defendant does not present a defence, the court finds in favour of the claimant automatically. This only applies if the claimant files their complaint in a recognised court of law.

However, the UCC is not a court of law, it has no legal standing anywhere in the world and it cannot make judgements or rulings on any document that is filed with it.

Think of it this way: You are a car salesman who believes that people throughout the world should only buy American-built automobiles. So you join together with other car salesmen who have the same thoughts and form a trust. As a trust, you then write a document containing all sorts of impenetrable legal-sounding language stating that the citizens of the world can only buy American-built automobiles, lodge these papers with the UCC claiming that unless this new “law” is rebutted within 6 months, the trust’s idea becomes law throughout the world.

If the form of legal processes the OPPT claim to have worked in their favour was true, think how many other law suites would be brought about through the UCC and throughout the world for all sorts of bizarre rules that favour one group against another – it would be legal chaos.

This is why the use of a rebuttal clause can only be decided in a court of law.

Additionally, the OPPT claim to have access to a “higher source of information” that they call the “Eternal Records”.

I have encountered this phrase “Eternal Records” only once before and that was about 10 years ago. This was when someone set up a web site claiming to be in “direct communication” with some Galactic Council or Galactic Federation or other that they could, through the Velon, access these Eternal Records and that only the Velon had access to these records, nobody else in the Universe did.

By claiming they have access to the Eternal records, the OPPT are linking themselves in with the Velon and the Velon controlled Illuminati (by the way, the "Eternal Records" do not exist except in Velon fantasy).

Apart from the documents the OPPT have been putting out on their web site and the internet in general, there have been a number of articles written about them in alternative magazines and newspapers. There has also been a series of four articles written about them and published in the Guardian newspaper's on-line edition. The Guardian Express articles were written by Andy Whiteley who is a publicist for the OPPT. Presumably, other articles have been published in other "mainstream" newspapers but I have not had access to them.

So why would at least one mainstream newspaper publish, and publicise, the actions the OPPT claim they have made when the results of the actions claimed by the OPPT would destroy the media?

It must be remembered that over eighty percent of all media – newspapers, magazines, television, radio, book publishing and the internet – is owned by five people. All five of these media magnates are members of the Bilderbergers. The Bilderbergers are, in turn, controlled by the Illuminati.

The HGF

So who, or what, are the OPPT and who is behind them pulling the strings?

The documents produced by the OPPT have some glaring errors; so glaring that they must be deliberate. The first time I saw anything from the OPPT; it included the date 1776 as being the date that the American Constitution was signed. I knew immediately that there was something wrong.

Then, I read what the OPPT were claiming they had achieved and the reasons why. My initial thought was: they have broken their own law as they did not ask my permission to act on my behalf, removing my free choice of actions.

HGF stands for Human Gullibility Factor.

The OPPT documents and claims have been put out there to gauge how gullible we are.

The spreading of the "Drake" material was a first stage – would people really believe that someone could do what "Drake" was claiming? Most people, who were aware of the Drake claims, obviously did.

The next stage is how do we judge if people are ready for the New World Order?

Into this steps the OPPT.

How many people actually checked out the OPPT claims other than through the OPPT website? It must be extremely few otherwise nobody would be defending or promoting the OPPT.

For one minute actually think about the implications of what the OPPT claim to have achieved:

The abolition of governments

The abolition of banks and financial institutions

The abolition of companies

If governments are removed, who would supply the necessary public services that governments do?

There would be no emergency services. There would be no hospitals. There would be no refuse collections. There would be no state financial benefits and there would be no state pensions.

If the banks and financial institutions were removed what would happen?

We have seen in recent years that if there is any threat to the banks, they immediately foreclose on loans, making people bankrupt. They also foreclose on mortgages, making people homeless.

If companies are abolished, who would pay wages and salaries?

Without the government financial benefits and without banks to turn to, there is no money supply so everyone starves.

Without companies, who would supply electricity, drinking water, sewerage disposal and mains gas?

In short, there would be total anarchy as the millions of homeless and penniless people fight amongst each other for the next scrap of food or the next drink of water.

The natural outcome of this anarchy is that people would look for someone to save them. Into this need for help would step the New World Order offering One World Government and a single world-wide currency – everything that the Illuminati/NWO want.

Conclusions

We do not need laws to grant us freedom of choice. Freedom of choice is the underlying concept on which all laws, and even this Universe is built. We have, and have always had, the right to act as we choose and to take responsibility for those actions. It is only when society considers that certain actions are unacceptable that laws have been written to define a punishment that is appropriate when one person has acted in such a way as to remove the freedom of choice of another. Freedom of choice is an intrinsic part of who we are and how society functions so the OPPT claims that they have written a law that grants us freedom of choice is totally meaningless.

The OPPT is a classic “Hegelian dialectic” as described by the Illuminati: the Illuminati want to bring about a situation which they know nobody would ever accept. So to achieve their aims, they deliberately bring about a set of circumstances which are so horrifying that people demand they do what they wanted to do all along – a one world government and a one world currency and a reduction of the global population down to 500 million.

Fortunately, the actions claimed by the OPPT cannot happen.

Their documents and reasoning is so flawed that they cannot ever become law. But, what the OPPT have achieved is a census of human gullibility so that the Illuminati now know how to word future Hegelian dialectics to achieve their aims.

On the 21st of December 2012, we saw the arrival of massive new energies into our solar system that are designed to bring about change. What we are seeing here is the first of the Illuminati/NWO/Cabal backlashes against this positive energy.

There is only one way to change our world from the current human-made mess, and that is to undergo soul re-integration. All of the positive energies are in place to enable this to happen. What is needed now is the will of each individual to fulfil their potential.

That way, we can all gradually and smoothly change our world to one where everyone benefits without panic or problems – think about it because nobody is going to do it for you.
