Introduction

First of all, I have to say that I am not an expert on the Mayan Calendar. I am aware of the “epochs” and “rounds” of the Calendar but not the workings of the “tuns” and “bactuns” that make the Calendar work.

Having said that, the only date within the Mayan Calendar that seems to have captured everyone’s imagination, and concern, is that of the 21st of December 2012 (21/12/12 or 12/21/12 depending on which country you live in).

The Mayan Calendar is not the only ancient calendar that exists on the planet.

The ancient Egyptians had their own calendar form but this is largely lost to us as academics and “pyramidiots”, sorry Egyptologists, have kept it from non-specialist eyes. However, the Egyptian Calendar also notes a major shift in our existence towards the end of 2012.

The Chinese also have their own calendar system going back at least 5,000 years. Their calendar is known in the west but has been reduced to a fortune telling tool – the I Ching. The I Ching also foretells of major changes at the end of 2012.

There are a number of other ancient calendar systems from around the world but most have been lost or have been deliberately destroyed to hide their contents away from the westernised world.

As far as the Akashic is concerned, the most important date occurred at the end of 2011. This was the completion of The Human Plan which has been in operation for 7,000 years.

Background

Our solar system is unique in that it is the only place within our Universe where life exists at a level of energy compaction we call “physical”.

In all other parts of our Universe, life exists at energy levels that are considered “non-physical” or “semi-physical”. I am not going to describe those states of being here as they are fully covered by my books and previous essays.

Virtually all of the souls that exist in human form have originated from the non-physical or semi-physical regions of our Universe. In other words, their “soul origins” are not of this solar system but have chosen to come to Earth to experience what it is to be physical.

There are souls whose soul origin is Earth but they are outside of the scope of this essay.

Originally, every planet in our solar system supported physical life as well as a version of the life-forms we call human.

3.6 million years ago, this situation changed and the only planet within our solar system that continued to support life since then has been our Earth.

Life has continued on one of Jupiter’s moons but that is outside of the scope of this essay.

The primary purpose of our solar system is to explore the possibility of developing and sustaining a form of life that is capable of containing the whole of a soul within it. On Earth, this life-form we know as Human Beings – please note the capitol letters.

Again, I am not going into the complexities of Human existence in this essay as that history is detailed in my books and previous essays.

The full state of being Human, we achieved on Atlantis but, for various reasons, we destroyed that continent 65,000 years ago. Following the destruction, we returned to Earth 25,000 years ago and started again.

At that time we were also a full Human – the whole of the soul within the physical body – but we began to lose our “higher” faculties and so we developed a strategy for how we could explore the possibilities and potential that Earth presented and also to find a way to achieve full Human status again.

Essentially, the loss of our higher faculties amounted to a loss of some elements of the soul from the body; the strategy we developed was designed to help us find a way of re-merging the whole of the soul back into the physical.

This strategy we named “The Human Plan” and we began working with it 7,000 years ago.

The Human Plan

The definition of a Human Being is a “physical” being that contains the whole of the soul. By the time we put The Human Plan into operation, our souls were divided into two: - the “physical self” and the “higher self”.

This divided soul state meant that the Earth considered us to be “sub-human”. That is human with a small “h”.

The Human Plan was very simple: - we would live a series of lifetimes experiencing all that there is to experience by being in a physical body living on a physical planet and collectively we would pool our gained knowledge until we found a way of returning the whole of the soul back into the body – become Human again.

In order to achieve this, the Earth’s consciousness gave us a time limit of 7,000 years: that 7,000 year period finished on the 29th of October 2011.

At the same time as we set The Human Plan into action, all of the ancient calendar systems were begun.

Given that most of these ancient calendars have been lost to us, in one way or another, the only one that remains is the Mayan Calendar.

The Mayan Calendar

The Mayan Calendar was actually begun 7,000 years ago but it spans a time-frame of roughly 26,000 years.

The basis of Mayan traditions is connected with the phases of development that our solar system underwent. Each stage required differing energy potentials and these potentials were supplied by our sun.

Therefore the Mayan Calendar records sun cycles and, according to Mayan traditions, we are approaching the end of the “5th Sun”.

This means that we are leaving the current phase of energy requirements, supplied by our sun, and are about to enter into a new phase of development which requires a different combination of energy frequencies – a “6th Sun”.

In comparison with The Human Plan, the Mayan Calendar appears to be out of sync.

The Human Plan came to its completion at the end of 2011 (according to the Akashic) whilst the Calendar comes to its completion on the 21st of December 2012.

To understand this, we need to look at the Calendar as a whole.

Again, I must state that I am no expert on the intricacies of the Calendar with only a basic understanding of its cycles. I am sure that there are many people reading this essay who have greater knowledge of the full workings of the Calendar and so I apologise in advance if I have some of the detail wrong. My intention is to show some of the basic workings and put it into context within The Human Plan in relation to the 21st December.

We are used to using calendars in our daily lives as a means of counting off the days from the start of the year or of counting the days until an event is due to occur.

The Mayan Calendar is different. It does count off the number of days but it also contains predictive elements in that it predicts cycles and major events known as “Epochs”.

When the Calendar is worked backwards, it can be used to go backwards for many thousands, if not millions, of years and it has been shown to predict some events in that those events occur at the end of the cycles built into the Calendar.

These ends of cycles, or the markers of major events, are even more pronounced when the cycle marks the end of an Epoch.

As an example: I understand that the end of one Epoch coincided with the end of the Roman Empire. The ending of another Epoch coincided with the end of WW2 etc.etc.

The Calendar also seems to predict events that occur in the galaxy beyond our solar system such as the development or collapse of stars.

The most recent, and “final” Epoch of the Calendar was the 29th of October 2011.

At this point, the Calendar reset itself to a series of 13’s. In other words all of the various wheels of the Calendar arrived at the number 13 at the same time.

On the 21st of December 2012, the Calendar changes again in that all of the wheels reset themselves to zero.

This “zeroing” has never occurred before.

The Human Plan and the Mayan Calendar

For the past 7,000 years, we “humans” have been existing in a sub-human state.

By this I mean that we have been living with only about 25 per cent of total soul within the body. The remaining 75 per cent has been outside of the body forming the “higher self”. We are used to living with only a limited part of the soul available to us; and this has made us lazy.

We could have completed The Human Plan at numerous times throughout our sub-human history: 2,000 years ago, 500 years ago, 100 years ago even 50 years ago, but we have not. At all of these times of potential change, we have found an excuse or a reason not to put in the extra effort needed to prepare ourselves for returning the greater part of the soul back into the body.

However, we have now reached our time limit of 7,000 years and there cannot be any further prevarication.

The Akashic records events, it does not predict events.

According to the Akashic, The Human Plan needed to be completed towards the end of 2011. What is meant by this is that we needed to be ready to re-merge the greater part of the soul back into the body.

The Akashic does not specifically record a date on which this re-merging would take place.

This means that this process of re-merging would have to happen sometime after the end of 2011. We could prevaricate no longer.

Since 1996, we have been accumulating new energies into the solar system and consequently on Earth. All of these new energies have been designed to help us fulfil our promise to the Earth that we would complete The Human Plan before the end of 2011.

We did complete our part of The Human Plan before the end of 2011. By that I mean we found the answer that The Human Plan was designed to find.

This answer is all about energy frequencies: the frequencies with which the Earth works and the frequencies that we needed to adjust ourselves to in order to re-merge the soul back into the body and, most importantly of all, to maintain the whole of the soul within the physical body – to become Human again.

The Mayan Calendar predicted this event as the last date of the final Epoch – 29th of October 2011.

By all of the cycles of the Calendar turning to the number thirteen, the Calendar recorded the Universal Number – everything within this Universe ultimately adds up to the number 13. By all of the cycles turning to this number, they reflected the fact that we, and the Earth, had achieved harmony with the Universe and the Creator’s wishes.

I can only speculate on the reason for the extra year following this date but it obviously has to do with the requirement that we brought ourselves to the point where we were ready to re-merge the soul back into the body but needed a little time to adjust ourselves to this new situation.

On the 21st of December 2012, the Mayan Calendar cancels out the past and resets itself to zero.

This zeroing represents not the end of the world or the end of time but the end of the current energy patterns supplied by our sun.

This means that the sun’s energy patterns will change on the 21st of December – a “6th Sun” will emerge providing us with all of the energy frequencies we need to match our new Human state.

This is where the problems begin in that we sub-humans cannot predict what our new requirements will be.

It is known on a higher self level and obviously it is known by the consciousness that is the sun and the consciousness that is our Earth. But we sub-humans only able to access one quarter of our total soul energies do not know.

One thing that is known is that sometime on the 21st of December 2012, the sun enters into an alignment with the centre of our galaxy. The sun will be in an exact alignment between the Earth and galaxy centre.

The centre of the galaxy is not a black hole but a sun and this sun is the central concentration of the consciousness that is the galaxy.

This alignment means that the galaxy’s consciousness, our sun’s consciousness and the Earth’s consciousness are in exact alignment with each other and this alignment will trigger change within our sun and within our Earth.

Just what the repercussions of this alignment will be is not entirely known.

We could speculate but it would be just that – speculation, nobody actually knows.

The only thing that is known is that we humans must be fully ready to take on these new energies before this alignment takes place.

The process of re-merging the soul back into the body does work. Some people volunteered to be “guinea pigs” in this process.

So far, over two and a half million people have become fully Human again for the first time in over 7,000 years.

None of these people experienced any kind of problems or difficulties in undergoing this process. The vast majority of them went to sleep at night and woke up in a full soul state the following morning. The remainder, a few hundred, took 24 hours to achieve this but again, there were no problems.

This means that anyone who has chosen to undergo full soul re-integration will be able to do so in a very short period of time.

The lessons learned from our guinea pigs show that everyone who is ready can undergo full soul re-integration in a very short period of time; certainly less than four hours.

This means that all of those who have chosen to undergo soul re-integration will do so before the galaxy/sun/Earth alignment occurs. It might be the night before or it might be the minute before, but it will be before – your higher self will make sure it happens at a time appropriate for you.

For those who have chosen not to undergo full soul re-integration, their future is uncertain in that the choices they have made will lead them in a different direction to those who have chosen to undergo re-integration.

At the moment, there is no way of predicting the future for these people.

Conclusion

The date of the 21st of December 2012 has been hanging over our heads ever since the Mayan Calendar has been decoded.

Many have seen this date as the time at which the Earth blows up and all of Her life lost – that is not going to happen.

Many others have seen this date as just a date which will pass without incident in the same way as all of the Y2K predictions didn't happen – this is not going to happen.

The truth lies somewhere between the two: there will be change on a massive scale but it will not be destructive to the Earth.

It is also possible that the arrival of the 6th sun will be largely unnoticed by most as its effects will begin at a low level and gradually build over a period of time. But it should be remembered that when analysed properly, major points of change throughout the solar system, the galaxy beyond or even out in the Universe, have happened instantly. There have not been periods of slow change but sudden and almost instant changes of a state of being.

This is the most likely scenario for us – instant change on a vast scale.

Fortunately, the majority of the human population are ready for this magnitude of change.

Once changed, we begin a new level of existence, one where we will be able to fulfil our full potential which will lead to massive developments throughout our solar system as life slowly returns to the other planets.

Interesting Times indeed and none of it cursed (old Chinese saying).
